Known Issue
Following Release 6.00, an Oracle bug affects the Type Ahead/Autocomplete functionality for search fields containing a comma. When utilizing a search field containing a comma, PeopleSoft will display :::: characters instead of the comma. If users select the search result, an error message may display, or the search result may return a "No matching values were found" message.

FUNCTIONAL WORKAROUNDS:

1. Select the value and manually replace the :::: with a comma.
2. Search by using the Look Up icon(Magnifying glass) to search for the field.
3. Disable the Type Ahead/Autocomplete functionality for a specific field, entire page or all pages by using the following navigations.
