

PO.020.120 – Creating a PO by Copying a Requisition

Purpose	To create a Purchase Order by copying from an existing requisition. This method provides users with an efficient way to create Purchase Orders and reduce the amount of time spent on redundant manual data entry.
Description	Purchase Orders can be created in one of three ways: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• By entering all fields manually</li> <li>• By sourcing a Requisition to a Purchase order</li> <li>• By copying an existing Requisition to Purchase Order.</li> </ul> The advantage of sourcing or creating a PO from an existing requisition is that it reduces the amount of time spent on redundant data entry. A Purchase Order consists of the following sections: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Header: contains PO ID, accounting date, PO status, and budget status</li> <li>• Line(s): contains item description, unit of measure (UOM), amount, quantity, category code (NIGP)</li> <li>• Schedule: contains ShipTo and matching settings</li> <li>• Distribution: contains ChartFields, asset information, requisition detail</li> </ul>
Security Role	BOR_PO_MAINTAIN
Dependencies/Constraints	The requisition is approved with a valid budget status.
Additional Information	If a user copies a requisition into a Purchase Order, the system will copy everything from that requisition, including Chartstring, and ship to information. If users change the information on the Purchase Order, it does not flow back to the requisition from which it copied.
